

This year Highlander's community outreach project will benefit the Lake Highlands families who are serving in the military. For a week the students collected items to send in care packages to the troops and on Monday, November 16, the Highlander gym was transformed into an assembly line loaded with snacks, candy, toiletries, games and DVD's. With help from Rhonda Russell and the Lake Highlands Military Moms...and a few dads, the 6th grade students packed 60 boxes of goodies for the military families. All the elementary students wrote letters of encouragement to the soldiers to accompany the boxes. The community outreach project was a wonderful way for the students to show their support for our American men and women who are serving our country.
